The swaggerness of the Partrulges. pluming their feathers amid the glories of hotel velours, crystal gorgeousness and similar grandeurs that have been revealed during the John Doe inquiry into gambling now in progress before Judge William H. Wadhams, faded to a comparative drab gray hen color last night. For all of a sudden yesterday District Attorney Swann and Assistant District Attorney James Smith dug up a lot of information about an utterly ultra gambling club, a regular bird of paradise organization, housed in a hotel suite of much pretension, which makes the Partridges look like a lot of bedraggled cockney sparrows in a mud
